

The Chinese People: An Archeological View by Potluri Rao In Seattle ©2018 (CC BY 4.0)

Originally, Chinese and Hindus were the same people. They were the Asian Homo Sapiens who voluntarily left Somalia 100,000 years ago to follow the monsoon winds that blew from the Arabian Sea to the Bay of Bengal. They were highly advanced logic-based cultures of visionaries, explorers, and risk-taking entrepreneurs. They followed the life-sustaining perennial rainwater resources with an abundant supply of food resources year-round. They lived only on the lowlands created by the perennial rainwater rivers along the path of the monsoon winds. They lived only in the tropical zone warm and toasty with the same climate every day. They never heard of glaciers, the Ice Age, or the Stone Age. They never had any need for a king, war, weapons, a god, or religion. They were peace-loving, compassionate people who lived as one giant family. They lived in the currently submerged Persian Gulf 80,000 years ago. Chinese were the DNA C, and Hindus were the DNA F. The DNA O was a subgroup of the F. Unfortunately, the ancient civilized world is now lost, deliberately destroyed by the recent primitive warmongering European (DNA R1) cultures that evolved from the Ice Age and Stone Age.

Around 60,000 years ago, the C and O moved along the white line shown in the map to a giant fertile land that stretched from India to Australia, called Sunda. They painted caves on the Sulawesi island of Indonesia 60,000 years ago.

The glaciers started to melt 20,000 years ago, and Sunda was submerged. The C moved east to the current China, Japan, and Mongolia. The O moved back to India along the old migration path and lived along the Sone River, a tributary of the Yamuna River.

