Genetically, Brahmins in India are two types: (1) DNA Z93 and (2) DNA F. The Z93 were the unethical and immoral Avestans (South Bactria) who robbed Avesta with fictional Yajna rituals to market their fictional gods Vishnu, Shiva, and Indra as snake oil. They were kicked out from Avesta to Kashmir by a Persian king, Xerxes. The Z93 were split into two groups: (1) Kashmiri Pandits and (2) Bihar Vaidikis. The F were Hindus converted into a fictional Brahmin caste invented by the Greeks to work in the Greek temple business as indentured labor. Thus, Brahmins come in three flavors: Kashmiri Pandits, Bihar Vaidikis, and Temple Brahmins (Pujaris).

The temple god was a Greek invention. It was a highly profitable business. People were robbed with fictional stories of the fictional temple gods with supernatural powers. The Greeks employed the unethical and immoral Z93 in Kashmir to invent the fictional stories in a synthetic language of artificial rules of syntax and grammar called Sanskrit. All Sanskrit literature was Greek-financed, and Z93 invented fictional stories of nonverifiable and nonsensical statements of unnatural characters and events; it was pure fiction. In the Sanskrit rubbish the delusional Z93 glorified themselves as gods.

The Greeks moved to the Nalanda area in the Bihar State after the collapse of the Gupta Empire. They imported some Z93 from Kashmir at great expense to deliberately destroy Nalanda Hindu University and Hindu civilization. There is no trace of natural migration of the Vaidik. When the British East India Company moved to Calcutta, some Z93 moved from Nalanda to Calcutta. The Greek stooges became British stooges to destroy the Hindu civilization. They were unethical and immoral people who served colonialists. They were kicked out of Avesta for a good reason. All Sanskrit literature is plain rubbish financed by the colonialists to deliberately destroy Hindu civilization; it was reduced to ashes when tossed in the fire of Hindu logic of hypothesis testing.
